. . . On Price's Farm There Were Some Seniors!

The Date: Sunday, September 22, 1985
 The Place: Mark Price's Farm
 The Event: Farm Aid
 The Reason: On this day, 78,000 spectators united in Champaign, Illinois to show their support for America's farms. The Class of '86 decided to express its pride in Pennsylvania's farmers by gathering for an afternoon of fun and . . . adventure!

Adventure

What Is A Friend? A Friend Is

Someone who makes the good times worthwhile.

Someone to sail away with.

Someone to hide with in dark places.

Someone to shower with.

Someone who gets the "munchies" when you do.

"A friend is someone to share your deepest secrets with, someone to talk to when you're feeling down. A friend is someone who is always there."

Someone to show school spirit with.

Someone to suffer through band camp with.

Someone who practices with you for the big game.

Someone to lean on.

Someone who is with you every step of the way.

It Could Only Happen At DB!

Lisa Rowe asked her classmates, "Have you gargoled today?"

D.B. upperclassmen show us their underalls.

"Knock, Knock." "Who's there?" Mark Simmons' answering service.

Mark Price makes a principal decision.

Jon Griffiths finds amazing uses for his beloved flip-flops.

We Have The Strange And Unusual!

D.B. football has the best figures- and that doesn't mean statistics.

Shelly Walton climbs the ladder to success.

Jill enjoys Kim's version of "Pigs in space."

Maybe Anne should have had a V-8.

What gives someone the desire to be a library assistant? Money? No, there's no pay for this job. A guaranteed spot in the library? That could be it, but whatever the reason, these kids do a great job answering those typical library questions: "Where's the paper?, When's this book due?, and Where do I find the book about building a rocket in my backyard?"

Speaking of hard work, the stage crew toils behind the scenes to keep on-stage and off-stage confusion to a minimum. Assemblies, movies, and the once-a-year Senior Class Play are all kept in order by these curtain drawing, light moving, special effects experts.

Writers Impress Blazer Frontier

Blazer Staff: Row 1: (L to R) D. Whitmyer. Row 2: J. Fecera, A. Wert. Row 3: G. Albright, J. Fecera, A. Hickey.

Are these the future writers for Time Magazine or the Wall Street Journal? Maybe not, but these aspiring young Shakespeares do provide D.B. students with interesting reading material. The Literary Magazine gives students a chance to expose their writing skills and possibly send a message to a secret love with a tender poem. The school newspaper, the Blazer, reports on the latest fads, faces, fashions, and facts.

Powderhorn Staff: (Row 1: (L to R) M. Kennedy, M. Kilareski, C. Kisch, T. Lamb, T. Sheha, C. Chappie. Row 2: L. Creswell, J. Clifford, C. Care, H. Pegler, D. Ketterer, P. Sanders.

To Dream

What is a dream?
It's a wish masked behind
An eight hours sleep
When our souls unwind.

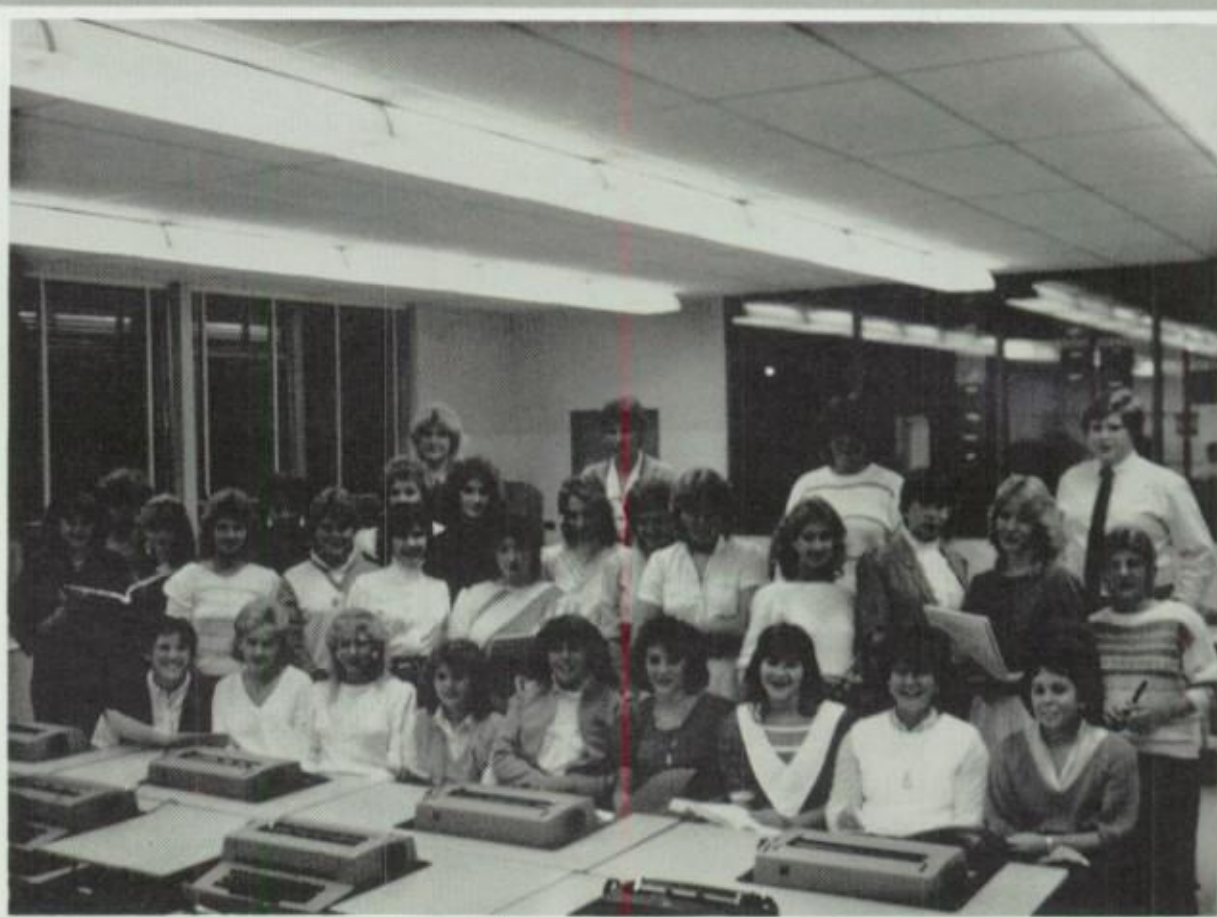

We dream of tomorrow,
When love comes and stays.
But, alas, in the morning,
The dream slowly fades.

F.B.L.A. Gets Down To Business

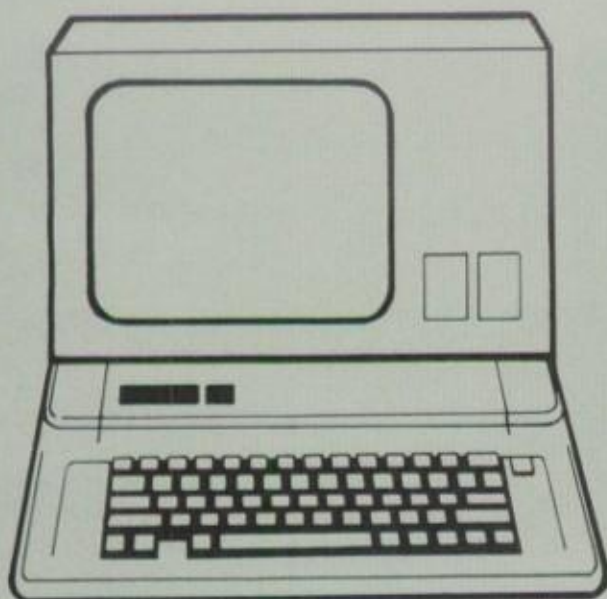

These ladies want to know if Mr. Jacobs comes with the computer.

Most students probably think F.B.L.A. stands for Farmers, Barbers, Lawyers and Accountants! Right? Guess again! F.B.L.A., also known as Future Business Leaders of America, provides an exclusive organization for business students. This club, under the supervision of its fearless leader, Mr. Jacobs, creates terrific times fund raising and traveling. F.B.L.A. gives business students the chance to become good leaders, while having fun. Let's hear it for F.B.L.A.! Hooray!

Time, effort, and spirit; all were essential this year in making the 1985 Homecoming celebration a success. Most important are the people behind the scenes who put forth a great effort to make it work, the members of the Varsity Club. Under the leadership of its president, Alan Zampella, the Varsity Club hosted a number of events on that special and fun-filled day.

Homecoming flipped into action with the pancake breakfast, parade, and the cross country run between students and alumni. Meanwhile, the field hockey team played an exciting game against Exeter. The final sports event of the day was the football game against Conrad Weiser. At half-time, Varsity Club's own secretary, Yvonne Casner, was crowned Daniel Boone's Homecoming Queen for 1985. The Homecoming dance was a perfect ending to a perfect day. Three cheers for Varsity Club.

Clubs Provide Service With A

Daniel Boone Youth Education Association and the Interact Club kept on their toes this year by sponsoring activities which benefited the school and community. D.B.Y.E.A. invited colleges, technical schools, and local businesses to visit our school and participate in a local "career night." This collage of opportunities encouraged students to take a serious look at their futures and helped them with career decisions. Other club activities included the faculty Christmas tea, a Toys for Tots Dance, and a fund raiser for future projects.

Each year the Interact Club hosts an event which proves to be the highlight of the community Christmas season. Interact members cater a special Christmas dinner and invite local senior citizens, not to mention our good friend Santa. These terrific events are made possible by funds generated from the annual volleyball marathon. This exciting, but exhausting event also provides money for Senior scholarships awarded at graduation.

Who's behind those extraordinary dances, terrific Fun Nights, and zany days known as Spirit Week? TA DA! It's Student Council! Student Council is an organization of the students, by the students, and for the students. It discusses issues and events crucial to the well-being and happiness of the entire student body. The U. N. Club, another government associated organization at Daniel Boone, enjoys gathering information about current world events and issues. Throughout the school year, the U. N. club members, with their brains and brief cases, attend mock United Nations conferences at schools in the area. The students represent various countries and learn about global issues.

Clashy underclassmen set future fashion trends.

Will the real Miss Terada please step forward?

The first day of Spirit Week, students entered the school dressed backwards. Then again, they may have been leaving.

On clash day fashions collided head on. Wednesday, students honored their favorite teachers by dressing as they do. These would-be teachers imitated Mr. Frey's handle-bar moustache and Mr. Fisher's unique suspenders, not to mention Mr. Rhoads' blinding ties. Themes such as "Heartbeat City" and "The Jungle of Juniors" set the mood for class color day. Students decked the halls (and themselves) in full force to display their class pride. Finally, on the day of the big Exeter game, blue and white spirit rocked through the school. Rowdy students painted and glittered their way to the pep rally, and jubilant juniors swung from the bleachers when their leaf-filled hall won first place.

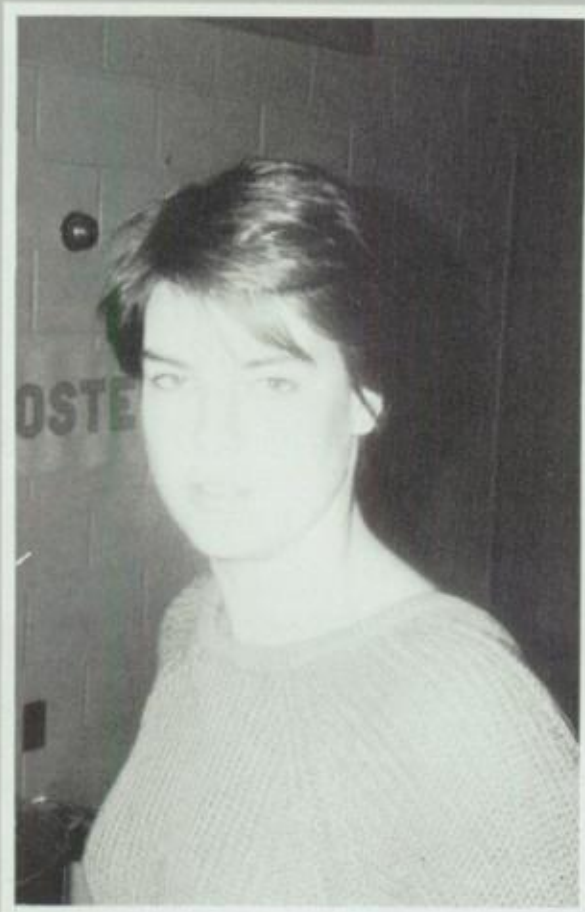

Could it be a full moon? Jim's face is furry!

In-Fluent-lal Clubs Speak Up

Jessica staggers away from her soup.

The language clubs are made up of students interested in further studying the cultures and lifestyles of foreign countries. They are divided into 3 different clubs including French, German, and Spanish. Each of these clubs participate in separate activities throughout the year. The French club sampled French cuisine at a Tres Magnifique, "Doneckers" and spicy French movies. Their big event of the season included a Christmas festival. With the Marti Gras being the highest point of the Spanish calendar, the club goes all out including eating at Casca Maria in King of Prussia and enjoying "Chi Chi's" form of Mexican "cocina".

German club participates in many seasonal activities such as ice skating and hay rides. Das Oktoberfest is the social event of the year.

All the groups join together in the spring to present a collage of food and culture. The international dinner serves as a great way to bring the world a little closer to D.B.

Daniel Boone's strong emphasis on academics comes through in the form of both one long standing society and another fairly new group of trivia wizzes. The National Honor Society entered the 1985-86 year with stricter requirements for inductees. With a grade point average of 90%, the number of inductees demonstrating scholarship, leadership, character, and service was limited to 17 outstanding juniors.

The Academic Challenge, Quiz Bowl, team also took on a greater Challenge. Under the guidance of Miss Debbie Barr, the team attended more competitions, including a county wide gathering at Lebanon Valley College.

Five students, under the direction of Mrs. Sue Kutz, succeeded in sparking interest in a new activity this year. Beth Reitz, Karla Saylor, Melissa Weiler, Howie Cash, and Tschombe Laughman returned from their summer Berks Teen Institute experience, anxious to begin a Students Against Driving Drunk Chapter at Daniel Boone. The students of Boone, by turning out in numbers over one hundred for D.B.'s first S.A.D.D. meeting, overwhelmingly showed support for the latest movement against driving under the influence.

Checkmates And Mimes

Achieve Fun And Good Times

Of course school is not always fun and games, so it's nice to know that Drama and Chess Clubs provide D.B. students with an entertaining outlet for energy. A long time has gone by since a club for creative performers has been established at Boone. Mark Drey, Alpha Omega Players advisor, takes time out of his busy schedule to demonstrate proper theatrical techniques. This year, "An Actor's Nightmare" and skits from "The Carol Burnett Show" received rave reviews! Just as the auditorium furnishes the stage for Drama Club, the chess board sets the scene for the battle between the black and white armies in Chess Club. Mastering the game of chess challenges even the most intellectual geniuses, but these students have the leadership of Chief Checkmate Kenneth Levan to keep them above board.

Hypothesis: The Daniel Boone science and ecology clubs try to gain a greater knowledge of scientific principles.

Observation:

Science Club (Chief Investigator - Mrs. Lenhart):

Members of this organization prepare entries for the annual Science Fair. They also enjoy lectures given by experts in the field.

Ecology Club (Chief Investigator - Mrs. Sassasman):

Members deal in the preservation and conservation of the pond and plan to transform it into a nature center. Ecology lecturers also provide a valuable learning experience.

Conclusion: Therefore, it is obvious that these science organizations provide an intellectual stimulation for the students of Daniel Boone High School!

Junior Miss

"I wonder if I'll ever get birdie?," Karla asks herself.

Karla tip-toes through the tulips.

Karla hits the audience with her best shot.

Poise, personality, and promise . . . all are characteristics of a Junior Miss. This year Daniel Boone was proud to have Karla Saylor as its Junior Miss representative. On October 6, 1985, Karla, along with 19 other contestants, performed in the Berks County Junior Miss Pageant. Participants are judged on scholastic achievement, personal interview, physical fitness, poise and appearance, and creative and performing arts. Karla cherishes fond memories of her adventure-ranging from playing miniature golf to rehearsing for the "big night" with her new friends. Karla has to admit that, "I could never have gotten through it without the love and support of my family and friends, they made it all worthwhile."

Karla takes a snooze in her flower bed.

The Daughters of the American Revolution is an historical society whose members are direct descendants of participants in the Revolutionary War. The organization asks that a student be selected annually to receive the prestigious DAR Good Citizen Award - an award based on the qualities of leadership, dependability, service, and patriotism. The senior class is asked to vote for the classmate it considers most possessive of these qualifications, and the top three choices are then voted on by the faculty. Melissa Weiler was selected to be the recipient of this year's award. She is active in SADD, French Club, and Interact, and is President of the Student Council, President of NHS, and Faculty Editor of the Orion Staff. She also spent a week in February in Washington, D.C. as Daniel Boone's Presidential Classroom Representative. Melissa takes a great deal of pride in her school and her activism. She is very honored to have been selected as the 1985-86 DAR Good Citizen.

Four happy sophomores enjoy their first prom.

Homecoming and Prom festivities lived up to everyone's expectations by providing Daniel Boone students with a few special hours of glamour and excitement. After a spirited Homecoming pep rally and bonfire Friday evening and colorful Saturday morning parade, the weekend's events culminated with the crowning of Yvonne Casner as Daniel Boone's 1985 Homecoming Queen. An entertaining dance Saturday evening provided new friends with a chance to mingle and old friends with a chance to reminisce.

The Prom presented an even more elegant atmosphere for its dignified participants. Girls and guys spent endless hours in front of mirrors perfecting their looks for that special evening of music and magic.

In true senior spirit, the Class of '86 presented The Life of the Party as its class play. Though set in the 1940's, students of any age could relate to the storyline centering around the never-ending struggle to "fit in". The action revolved around the Hugheses, a new family in Butterfield, and the plot would have made even a soap opera writer jealous. Jean, the nerdish bookworm, suddenly became the belle of the prom; lively Amy made a man out of Snazzy the wimp; Teddy the stud found himself torn between four jealous women; Mildred vowed to disown her family; Mr. Hughes gradually lost most of his sanity, and all the while, Mrs. Hughes cared only about proving to the Clover Club that she truly was a Daughter of the American Revolution. All this (and more) occurred not just once, but twice — April 4th and 5th. Under the direction of Mark Drey and stage direction of Gina Taglieri, even the practices turned out to be as funny and erratic as the show itself.

This year's Outrageous, Rowdy, Industrious, Outstanding and Noteworthy staff produced one awesome yearbook! Due to its diligence, scheming, and hard work, the 1986 Orion staff sold a record of 820 books. The staffers owe their "collection of the school year" to their advisor, Mrs. Cathy Buch. She had the creativity, control, and patience to stand by us, even on those "rare" occasions when it would have been easier to "kaleid with an Orion" than to finish a page. Through hours of assembly practices, late night meetings, and overdue deadlines she kept her cool. The Orion staff is proud of its accomplishments as it presents the 1986 Orion to the student body at Daniel Boone. Always remember, "This book's for you!"

Hello boys and girls, can you say "yearbook?"

MUSIC

D.B. Fields Noteworthy Show

The bandfront's new sequined uniforms added a new dimension to the performances of the marching unit this year. Numerous new members brought enthusiasm to the football games as well as the local parades. Three competitions and a competitive parade gave the unit a chance to really shine. And to top it all off, the Music Boosters are supporting the marching unit's efforts to perform in Florida in June.

Daniel Boone's Senior Concert Band repeated its display of excellence this year by preparing a challenging show which delighted the senses of each listener. The highlight of the season included orchestrating an original composition by band director, Mr. Joseph McTamany. In addition to this selection, the group then experimented with several other various scores—from the more traditional Sousa March to a showy Spanish arrangement. The group's momentum also continued to grow in anticipation of its planned trip to Florida this June.

Versatile director, Mr. Joseph McTamany, oversees one of his three lively bands.

Frontiersmen Stage Super Season

Todd seizes the opportunity to learn under great guitarist, Rich Kotzen.

D.B.'s Stage Band, perhaps the school's most travelled and celebrated music organization, spent its spring season representing our school at various local competitions. The group performed at Conrad Weiser, Williams Valley, Muhlenburg, and Northampton-gaining honors at each adjudication. Boone also sponsored its own successful gathering of jazz ensembles on March 22. Several county bands attended and competed for honors while entertaining all those in attendance. The group's lively style of music succeeded in rocking, swinging, and playing the blues.

Miss Texter's tooters banded together in September to begin many hours of practice needed for the busy year ahead. The marching band tuned up its marching skills, as well as its playing skills for the members' debut in the Homecoming Parade and Football Game.

Members then sat down at their stands to work on concert and stage band music. They entertained retired school employees at a banquet, and naturally, performed in the annual Christmas concert. A concert tour at our elementary schools and Hershey also kept the mini musicians on their toes. After all work and little play, the members deserved to pack up their cases and honk their horns in celebration of another successful season.

Diane Reichert Honored

Managers Jennifer, Leslie, and Krystal dream of their Sr. Band days.

Diane Reichert, a musician of extraordinary talent, represented our school in both the county and district bands this year. She auditioned and gained placement on the clarinet. As a member of county band, Diane spent several day-long practices under the leadership of guest conductor Dr. Laudenschick and finally performed on January 25th at Muhlenberg H.S. The District band, even more elite and competitive, was that much more involved. Members spent three days at a host home in Bethlehem and endured long hours of practice with Dr. Scagnoli. The group then gave two performances during the first weekend in February.

Daniel Boone's Sr. Choir, under the direction of Deborah Weinhold, received numerous invitations this year to "take their show on the road," performing at Wernersville State Hospital, Berkshire Mall, and our high school auditorium. The group also sponsored their annual Jazz Clinic under guest conductor and choreographer, Sally Albright. The Boone singers invited various area choirs to participate and learn about the many innovations in the music world.

For the spring vocal season, the choir also added a new flair to their show. While a female group of sopranos and altos sang during the majority of the performance, a select group of mixed voices, the chorale, joined in entertaining the audience with a few more challenging selections.

Daniel Boone's Jr. Choir performed for several engagements this year. In addition to two exceptional concerts, the choir also entertained the elderly at St. Michael's Episcopal Church. The choir enchanted audiences with their show, which included many old, familiar carols. The group also accompanied the Sr. Choir at the Annual Sr. Christmas Concert, adding two numbers of their own. Overall, the Jr. Choir experienced a hectic, but gratifying year.

Auditioning and gaining placement in County Chorus were Jeff Riegner, Beth Reitz, Anne Wert, and Jacqui Eschbach. These four performed along with Berks's other top singers on January 25th at Muhlenberg H.S. Jeff, Beth, and Anne then continued on to Districts, appearing at Easton H.S. for two concerts during the last weekend in January.

Jeff prepares for Regional auditions with the dream of a trip to States.

SPORTS

Hockey Flicks To Furious Finish

Excellence and Perfection best describes this season for the D.B. Hockey team. The varsity team, led by Kim Rowe, link, and Lisa Care, sweeper, completed the season with a record of 9 wins, 1 loss and 2 ties. This outstanding record ranked the team as Division I Champs and allowed them to advance to county and district playoffs. The J.V. Hockey team scooped up 7 wins, 2 losses and 3 ties to end their season. Blazerettes sharpened their skills and added spirit and energy to the whole team. Coaches Cindy Lykens and Miss Meg Stanger urged their teams to, "Do it in 5" and proudly supported them during post season play. Not to be outdone by the upperclassmen the Jr. High Hockey team also posted a winning season with a record of 5-1-2. Miss Denise McCabe and Miss JoAnn Judge coached this successful team by using rotating captains. This gave all 44 girls a chance at the position.

Blazers Roll Through Bumpy Season

When the dust cleared over the football field this year, the Blazer team had racked up another winning season. The DB gridders compiled an overall record of 5-5 and a league record of 5-4. This high spirited team passed their way to victories via the arm of Eric Mull, and the hands of Paul Richard, Alan Zampella, and Bill Fetterolf. When a mysterious source intercepted the lights for a scheduled night game against Muhlenburg, the "jinx" was on. The following day the Muhls upset the Blazers. The "jinx" continued during the season finale against Exeter. The mighty Blazers outplayed the Eagles in all categories, but still lost. During day games, however, the powerful defense limited the opposition to ten points per game. On the road the Blazers scored big upsets over Holy Name, and the I-C Champion Hamburg Hawks. They proved that they were winners. This spirit and energy carried through to give the J.V.'s a winning season with an overall record of 8-2, and a league record of 8-1. The Junior Varsity was led by the rushing tandem of Dan DiGuglielmo and Brett Tschudy. Jr. High football gave young athletes a taste of what High school football is all about. The team, comprised of 8th and 9th graders, ended their season with a league record of 3-4.

Pacers & Putters Take To The Green

With a record of 7 wins and 3 losses, the Cross Country team, coached by Mr. Donald Weaver, ran hard to a victorious season. Racing strong for D.B. were lead men Shawn Johnson, Sean Barbabella and Mark Smale. The entire team participated in the conference run at Vo-Tech West, while Varsity members ran in the District meet at Hershey. The team rounded out the season with the Annual Alumni Run on Homecoming. After four years of youth giving way to experience, the team ran over the Alumni with a score 20-42. The golf team, however, was not up to par this season. The D.B. Linksman finished with a record of 2 wins and 8 losses. The team enjoyed competing in qualifying rounds and trying to sneak that extra stroke for the next match. Despite their record, the Blazer golfers are still winners at D.B.!

Cheerleaders = Spirit + Support

The most remarkable and freshest group of ladies once again had a successful season spreading school spirit with the help of their mascot, Lisa Ackerman. Lisa's energetic personality added fun to the squad and season. Special activities included decorating the hallways, getting the football players psyched before games by decorating their locker room, leaving surprises in their lockers, making signs for them to run through, and giving each senior player a dummy to throw into the bonfire. This super squad attended an Eastern Cheerleaders Association camp at West Chester and walked away as Grand Champions! This qualified the girls to attend the grand championship in Williamsburg, Virginia. Captain Karen Seifrit received the All American Cheerleader award enabling her to return in 1986 as an ECA staff member. Combining patience and skill, Karen, Melissa Hartline (co-captain), and Mrs. Kriczky, their advisor, blended eleven energetic ladies into one coordinated group.

Balancing out this new soccer program, Junior High girls got involved in an intramural gymnastic club. This club tumbled into action twice a week. While improving their gymnastic skills, the girls envisioned a future as gold medalists.

Blazers Bowl Over The Opposition

Boone bowlers threw no gutterballs when it came time for their matches this year. The Blazerettes rolled their way to a record of 21-21, which earned them fourth place in a very tight Division I. The team, under the direction of Mrs. Kutz, had a team average of 721. Freshman, Lisa Shaner, had the highest average for the girls with 163. Mr. Dantas spared nothing in leading for Blazers to a 10-32 record, and fifth place in Division I. The JV boys also finished at 10-32. Joel Zieber led the varsity with an average of 186. One thing is for sure — no one would ever want to meet a Boone bowler on a dark alley.

The Girls' Varsity Basketball team bounced through another successful season. Coach Shuey's patience and determination motivated the Blazerettes towards a record of 16-8 and exciting district play. After a disappointing loss to Wyomissing, the lady hoopsters finished in second place in Division I action. Sophomore standout Wendy Davis brought honors to DB as the leading scorer in Berks County.

Throughout the season, members of the JV girls' team, while refining their own basketball skills, provided much appreciated spirit and support to the varsity girls. Under the direction of Coach Lykens, Alicia Davis earned honors as top scorer. The Jr. High girls swished through their season with a 2-11 record. Fun combined with new skills to keep the mini Blazerettes dribbling thru their season.

The Varsity basketball team experienced a series of changes which resulted in a very exciting year. The Blazers finished 6-17 under the direction of new Head Coach Jim Marshall.

The change in attitude in this year's squad was apparent in their performance on the court. They worked for the benefit of the team and the fans knew it. Alan Zampella and Tom Hafer provided the consistently high-scoring offense, while the "Doctor", Randy McEwen, kept the defense hustling. Games such as the 77-76 double overtime loss to Oley and the combined 5 point losses to last year's state champs, made for a very exciting, though often frustrating, season.

The Junior Varsity finished 2-15 under returning Head Coach Rich Simmons. The squad was lead on the court by Jon Griffiths, Lin Erb, and Andy Haas, who also doubled as Varsity in order to make next year "one heck of a senior year."

Under the leadership of coaches Civitarese and Werner, this year's Junior High basketball team proved that winning isn't everything. The pony team pranced its way to a 4-8 record with outstanding performances by Matt Harley and Brent Knerr. The Junior High Varsity, led by shooting stars Chris Kinkaid and Vince Discala, took 3 of 14 games. All in all, Junior High hoopsters made a change on an old parable: It's not whether you win or lose, but that you keep on playing.

Spirit & Sparkle Shine Through

D.B. cheerleaders jumped into the spirit of things during the winter season and cheered on the basketball and wrestling teams. Besides cheering for the D.B. hoopmen the basketball cheerleaders enthusiastically performed such duties as decorating the locker rooms, making signs for the halls and most important, rooting for the team. With all their spirit the wrestling cheerleaders refused to be pinned down. Decorating the auxiliary gym and individual lockers kept these dedicated girls busy. Both cheerleading squads' seasons peaked with an invitational tournament at the Penn State Ogontz Campus in Philadelphia. This March event required teams from three states to perform in three minute cheering and pompon routines. Let's give a cheer for these spirit seekers!

DB Grapplers Take 'Em Down

This year the Daniel Boone matmen carried on the tradition with an all around winning season. The Varsity pinned down a record of 9-8-1, earning a tie for second place in Division I. With bright hopes for state titles, many wrestlers extended their seasons to include sectional, district, and even state competitions.

Many JV members provided tough competition for senior high wrestlers, with some eventually starting at the varsity level. The JV tournament produced a number of highlights including a second place finish for Dave Kulp in the unlimited weight class and a first place finish to cap off Sean Barbabella's undefeated season.

The Junior High grapplers compiled a 12-1 overall record, remaining undefeated in their league. Mike O'Donnell, weighing in at 80 lbs., and Eric Keehn, in the unlimited class, brought special honor to the team as Berks County Champions.

To the Class of 1986:

In the future, as you peruse your yearbook to remember a name, a face, or an event, times will have changed. The faces will have aged, names will have changed through matrimony, and high school events will seem even happier through the passage of time. What will remain unchanged in this book are the pictorial memorabilia recorded from your high school days.

When speaking of the Class of 1986, many positive remarks can be used to describe it. The class is highly academic, very competitive and quite compatible as a group. The leadership exerted by the class officers has been made quite evident in the many successful activities they have accomplished throughout the year. It is a fun class which we, as administrators and teachers, have enjoyed working with in school. If there are any words of wisdom I could share with the graduating class, they would be that in whatever you do, do not strive for personal wealth as a sole objective; instead, take pride and satisfaction in yourself and in your fellow man. Always have a sense of humor to avoid tension and anxiety and keep a strong belief in a Being higher than man for your guidance and comfort.

My best wishes are extended to each member of the Class of 1986. As graduates of Daniel Boone High School you will always be welcome to come back to your alma mater. You were an excellent class to associate and be friends with and will always be considered a group of tens in my heart.

You think of your teachers as mere names on mailboxes — stiff bodies behind cluttered desks — unyielding tyrants with a passion for punishment, right?! Well, it is time to take a more personal look at your favorite faculty members. See what life was like when the shoe was on the other foot and they were receiving homework instead of assigning it, forging passes instead of checking them, wandering halls instead of monitoring them. Believe it or not, our teachers really did have lives before teaching — lives full of nicknames, favorite subjects, activities, career goals and faces which just may surprise you

Jr. High Council creates a spirited car pool.

The little people of DB put their two cents into school spirit this year. The 7th and 8th graders participated in many school events such as the Jr. High committee of Student Council and a super Fun Night. 7th and 8th grades also competed in the Hall decorating contest in which the 8th grade Grape Apes received 3rd place! Team teaching created a very stimulating and entertaining atmosphere at Daniel Boone this year. The 7th grade teams of Telstar and Satellite took a field trip to Hopewell and 8th grade teams of The Stars and Rockettes traveled to the Reading Museum. Thru these and many other activities the Jr. High proved that good things come in small packages.

Freshman Class Thinks Pink

Troye shows off his own version of Freddie Krueger.

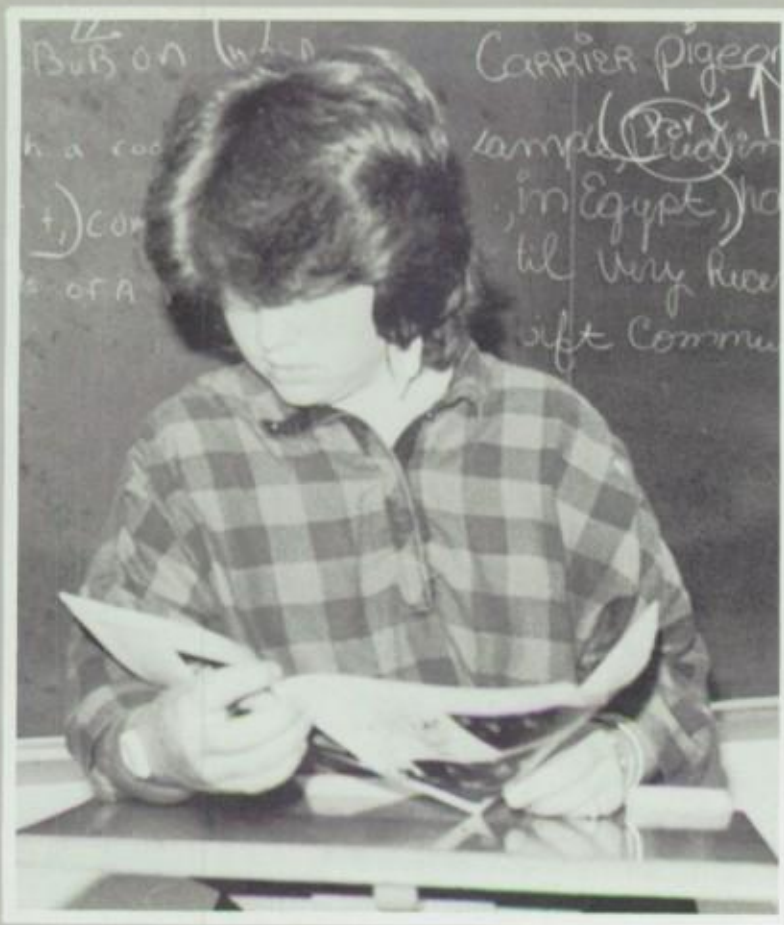

Let's have some a "paws" for the freshman class!

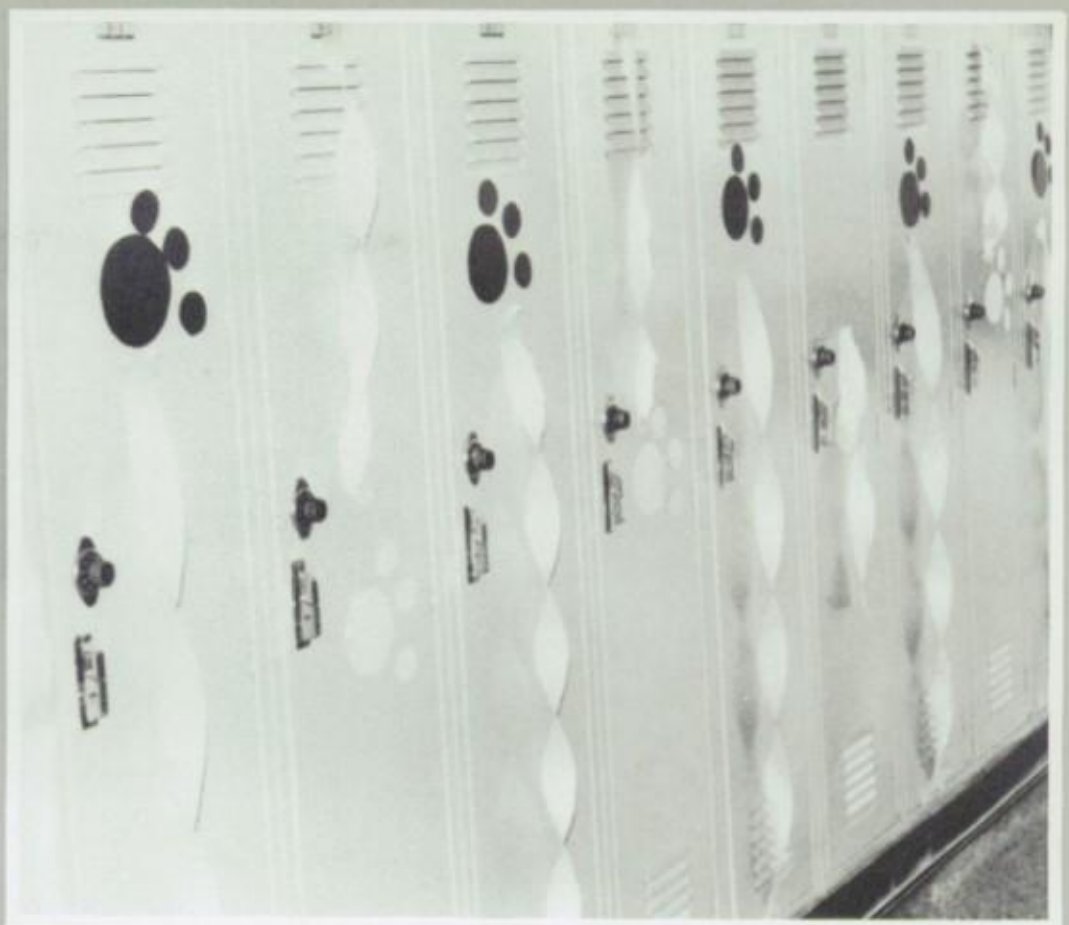

Your first year with the Senior High School, being a freshman, acting cool.
At a foreign language, you try your hand, communicating with teachers you can't understand.
Going, again, through home-ec and shop,
biology labs, and birds in a flock.
Learning to type with fingers more than two,
going with someone who also "loves" you.
Your freshman year is done at last,
hope your next three are a blast!!!

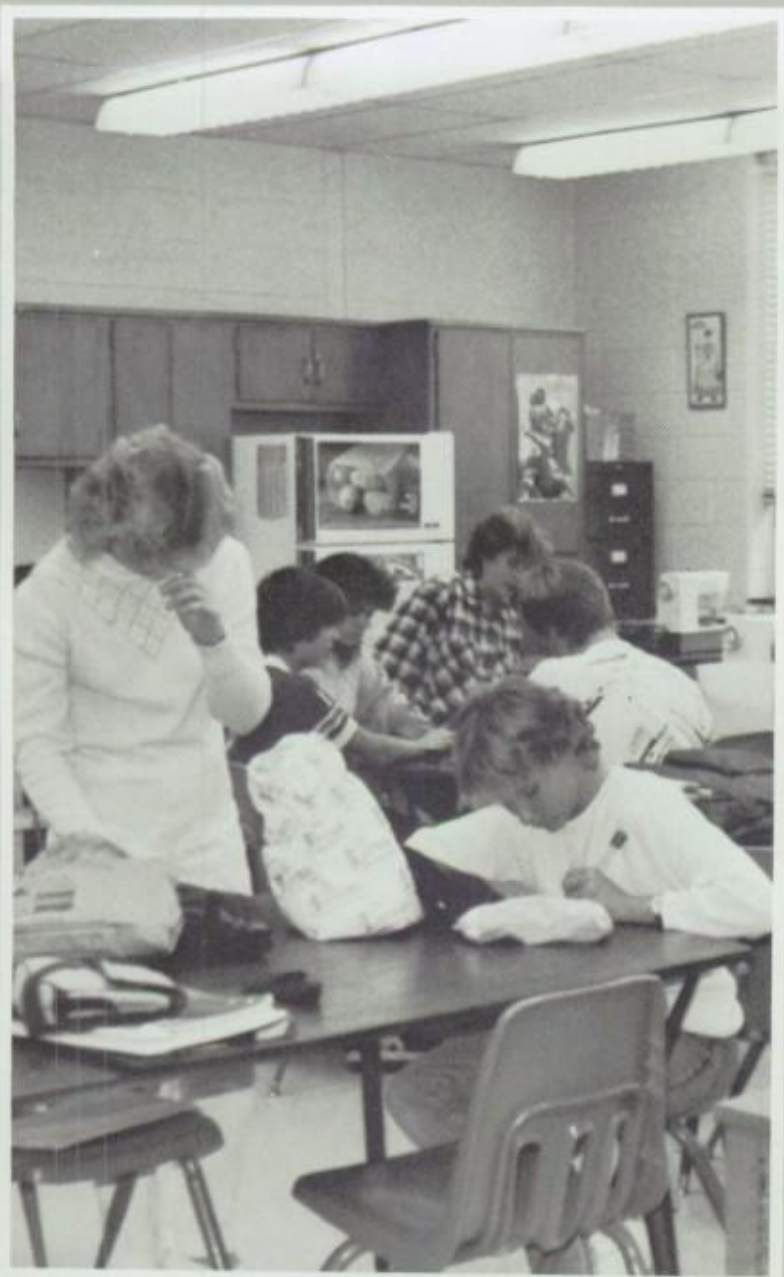

Lori and Andy get ready to pass into a world of love and romance.

Jamie sets a studious example for her class to follow.

The Pink Panther strikes again!

Missy says, "Sew what, let's get cooking."

Daniel Boone's Krystal and Alexis rehearse for Dynasty.

Freshmen girls line up for the $1 a kiss booth.

The Yellow Brick Road Ends Here

Howie flashes his "close-up" smile.

Who's the funny-looking man in the red suit?

Treena tries desperately to put some life into two dull bodies.

Taking tests can be so much fun!

Anne enjoys mixing business with pleasure.

Visions of jelly beans dance in Skip's head!

Dominique finds a new boyfriend.

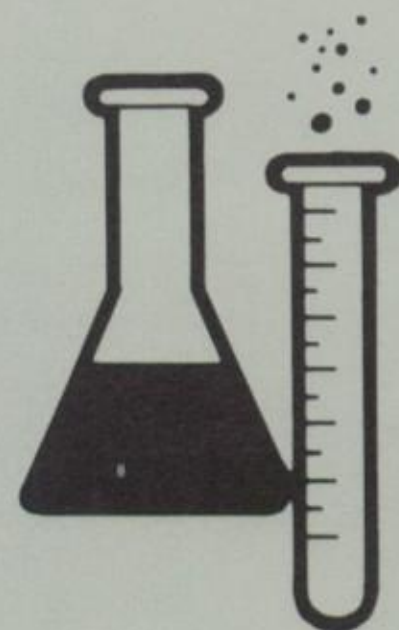

Brent looks marvelous in his new jacket.

Shawn portrays a modern day Daniel Boone.

Memorizing theorems, getting all confused,
Chemistry elements, in life you're sure to use!
O' those gory movies you saw in Safety Ed.,
taking notes in U.S. I until your fingers bled!
Love that color yellow and decorating halls,
applying for your permit and driving to the mall.
And when you order your Sophomore class coat,
can being a Senior be that remote?
You're the Sophomore Class of '88, hang in there, only two more years to wait!

Two best friends share a special moment.

You are a Junior:
 Wearing green for spirit week,
 SAT's, boy they reek!
 Dressing up and planning the Prom,
 nervous butterflies, sweaty palms.
 You sponsor and run the Halloween
 Dance,
 with costumes, fun and maybe romance.
 Learning how to drive a car,
 one more year 'til you're a star.
 You are the class of '87,
 a few more steps 'til you're in Heaven!

AROUND SCHOOL

Bells Confuse Students

On September 4, 1985, a new bell system shocked the Daniel Boone students. The days started ten minutes earlier, pushing one minute into each period. A requirement for students to spend more hours in class called for the change in the former bell schedule. Although confusing at first, the new bell system eventually became accepted and kept students on their toes.

DB Reaches Goal

Annually, the senior high students sell magazines to raise capital for each class treasury. This year, at a pre-sale assembly, students gazed in awe at flashy prizes and dreamed of the ones they would earn. With the additional help of the freshmen, Daniel Boone surpassed their goal of $18,000 in magazine sales this year. As a sales bonus, the student body saw the movie "The Karate Kid." Thanks to everyone's superb salesmanship, this entertaining film provided some relief from the December doldrums.

D. B. salesmen win prizes.

Jeff Thaxton talks to Daniel Boone students about self-confidence. His simple statement . . . "I am a ten!"

"I Am A Ten!!!"

"I tell the students if you love and appreciate your parents, and if you have a good feeling about yourself, then you don't need artificial help." These words from Jeff Thaxton have touched the hearts of many students throughout Berks County. On October 9, 1985, Jeff Thaxton visited Daniel Boone High School. He stressed self-confidence and a strong family relationship as a substitute for drug and alcohol abuse. "I am a ten" summed up the positive feeling that Thaxton conveyed. The students displayed great appreciation for Thaxton's inspirational stories, not to mention his spectacular sense of humor. Each student left the auditorium with a feeling of confidence in himself.

DB High Brightens Up

Thanks to money donated by the class of 1985, and the innovative ideas of several people behind the scenes, the Daniel Boone gymnasium took on a new and cheerful atmosphere this year. Brushed with a lively coat of paint, the gym exemplifies the strong spirit of the school. Its splashy blue and white walls are a change from the former color. The words "Daniel Boone High School" and "The Home of the Blazers" lettered on the gym walls add the finishing touch. This "work of art" can be thoroughly enjoyed by students and spectators alike.

Boone pride shines through for all opponents to see.

Capital Offense Pardoned

Has cupid's arrow chosen you for a target? Does your heart skip a beat whenever that special someone is around? Well, lucky you! This year for the first time, D.B. students may hold hands in the hallways. No longer must classmates pretend that love exists only after the last bell. They now have the freedom to give each other a caring touch without worrying that it will appear as an offense on their college resumes. Of course, more "enthusiastic" displays of affection are still prohibited and punishable by death if a certain math teacher catches you However, the upper echelon is now officially acknowledging what students have known all along - that hand holding is the innocent yet effective way to show a special person that you care. Don't administrators read Seventeen?

Administrators give thumbs up to holding hands.

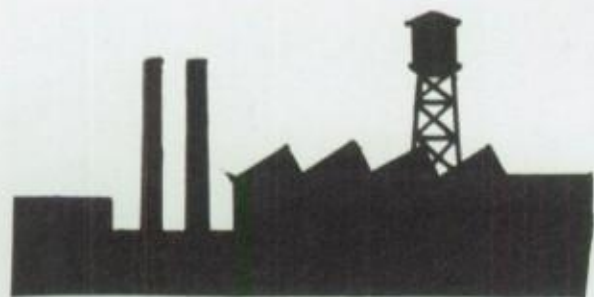

DB Shows Its True Colors

Inmates who reside in Berks County Prison, together with the Daniel Boone Parent Teacher Council, helped spice up the school's internal decor this year. Both groups donated plants and banners which were placed at the entranceways. The PTC donated the plants, which amazingly enough are still alive, while prison residents provided the spiffy banners. These banners certainly let you know where you are and are a real eyecatcher.

Greetings: Hello! Have a good day! All of these messages and more seem to be related to DB students by one new addition.

AROUND TOWN

"Y" Raises Funds For A Facelift

One of Birdsboro's well-known buildings, the Birdsboro YMCA has been raising money to improve its many facilities. The fund-raising committee attempted to reach its goal of $50,000 by accepting donations from public and private institutions and urging increased membership. Participation in this drive to date has been great. Soon the "Y" will be getting a much needed facelift along with some internal improvements.

Bridges Disappear

A few surprising changes have taken place in Birdsboro recently. One includes the Conrail removal of several railroad bridges. Demolition of the structures began in November and was completed soon afterwards. These bridges, connecting Birdsboro Armocast to the main rail line, spanned Furnace, Mill, Cinder, and Water Streets. The low clearance level of each structure made it difficult for some larger vehicles to travel these routes. Without the obstructions, traffic flow through Birdsboro is now much smoother.

Conrail removes bridges in Birdsboro.

Residents of Birdsboro, Robeson, and Union townships oppose the John T. Dyer Quarry as a landfill site.

BRUTAL Opposes Project

In the last few months of 1985, Birdsboro acquired a seemingly large problem which dragged into the new year. As the F.R.&S. landfill reached its capacity, a search began for a new site. When Benjamin Puppek Jr., the proud new owner of a marvelous piece of land, previously known as the John T. Dyer Quarry, heard of this situation, he immediately jumped at the opportunity to capitalize upon it. He suggested his land as a new landfill site. Many people in the area, along with the Department of Environmental Resources, did not approve of the idea. Concerned citizens of Birdsboro, Robeson, and Union Townships have voiced strong opposition to this proposal. It seems that they are on the winning edge.

Birdsboro Sees Changes

In August of 1985 the Mainbird Urban Renewal Project began in Birdsboro. This project was designed to build low to moderate income housing along the flood plain in downtown Birdsboro. The flood of 1972 left the houses in this area in total wreckage. For quite some time this area has been undeveloped. To prevent flooding of the new homes, dirt had to be trucked in to raise the level of the ground approximately six feet. Though it takes some time getting used to, this new housing is a welcome sight to the barren stretch of Main Street.

To aid the area's trash disposal problem a company under the name of Ogden-Martin Industries has proposed a trash-to-steam plant for this area. This system efficiently uses trash as fuel to generate steam for electric power. This proposed plant site is centered in Morgantown's Grace Mines. Two major problems are the transporting of waste to the plant and groundwater pollution. The Evergreen Association, which was formed to protest the trash-to-stream plant, consists of concerned citizens who would like to see the proposal dismissed. Birdsboro Manager Thomas Adams stated "A private enterprise interested in a profit won't be concerned with doing a first class job." Citizens realize the need exists to come up with a more effective way to dispose of waste, but they would like to consider more alternatives before choosing a method.

The ground had to be raised 6 feet in order for construction to begin on the Mainbird Urban Renewal Project.

Birdsboro's Main Street greets the rapid construction of housing with enthusiasm.

Brooke Mansion, a former haunt of local teenagers, has been transformed into a luxuriant new neighborhood-Mansion Heights. Originally the estate of iron tycoon Edward Brooke, the area passed hands several times, the most recent owner having been Elizabeth Spanier. Park Road realtors have built homes where spectacular lawns once grew. The houses, costing $80,000 and up, may one day be owned by the teenagers who once rendezvoused there.

The Brooke Mansion recently reached new "heights" in the area.

America's Dream Shattered

During 1986 two major incidents occurred which will have astounding impact on our generation. One of the most remarkable events in outer space history included the arrival of the famous Halley's Comet, which appears only once every 76 years. Most people will have only one opportunity to witness this amazing spectacle. To aid in viewing the comet, the U.S. launched an orbiting satellite, also responsible for beaming back pictures of Uranus and Neptune.

January 28, 1986 will go down in the annals of United States history as a day of devastation. On this day, the obliteration of the space shuttle Challenger brought sudden disbelief and disappointment to the nation. For months the world had been anticipating the first civilian venture into space. Christa McAuliffe, America's choice for the "Teacher in Space" program, and crew members Francis Scobee, Judith Resnik, Ronald McNair, Michael Smith, Ellison Onizuka, and Gregory Jarvis had captured international attention. However, their journey was not meant to be. As the world looked on, Challenger lifted majestically into space only to burst into flames seventy short seconds later. A wave of shock spread across the nation as millions of Americans kept an anxious vigil by their televisions awaiting the latest theories and developments. President Reagan, a strong proponent of the civilian space program, attempted to comfort the nation and praise the seven brave star voyagers:

"I know it's hard to understand that sometimes painful things like this happen. It's all part of the process of exploration and discovery, it's all part of taking a chance and expanding man's horizons."

"They had a hunger to explore the universe and discover its truths. They wished to serve, and they did- they served all of us."

Indeed, he summed up all of our feelings with a simple, final farewell: "We bid you goodbye, but we will never forget you."

AROUND THE WORLD

"They slipped the surly bonds of earth to touch the face God"

In the minds of people everywhere, no idea is more powerful than freedom. And in the hearts and souls of everyone, no symbol of freedom is more compelling or more treasured than the Statue of Liberty. On behalf of all those who decades past have forsaken their homes, their possessions, and their native land to seek freedom, your contribution is deeply appreciated. Therefore, in recognition of your selfless sacrifice to protect and preserve the world's symbol of freedom, your personal contribution, given in the year nineteen hundred and eighty-six, has been officially recorded and your name entered on a permanent Register of Contributors to be displayed at the museum of the rebuilt Statue of Liberty, Port of New York, United States of America.

Be it known to all who see this document that through the personal contribution of

DANIEL BOONE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1986

The Statue of Liberty will be saved, restored and preserved so that future generations throughout the world will see the symbol of Liberty's light burning brightly.

The Lady Shines

One hundred years ago, Frenchman Fr  d  rick Auguste Bartholdi designed the Statue of Liberty. This symbol of friendship between America and France transformed the pennies of millions of American school children into a lasting memorial. Since then, Lady Liberty has lighted the way for billions of immigrants seeking refuge in the "Land of Opportunity."

But the years have not been kind to the Lady. Age combined with the weather have made her look tired and worn. During 1985 and 1986, in answer to a desperate plea for her restoration, millions of Americans once again contributed to her cause. Across America children donated their pennies, corporations their millions, and celebrities their time. Closer to home, Carpenter Technology, Reading, Pa., provided all of the steel scaffolding used in the reconstruction, and the DB class of 86 donated $50.00 to the Statue of Liberty/Ellis Island Foundation.

July 4th, 1986 marks the 100th anniversary of the Statue's New York Harbor reign. As Americans celebrate their belief in political and social freedom of all peoples, she will stand magnificently, symbolizing again our country's pride and strength!

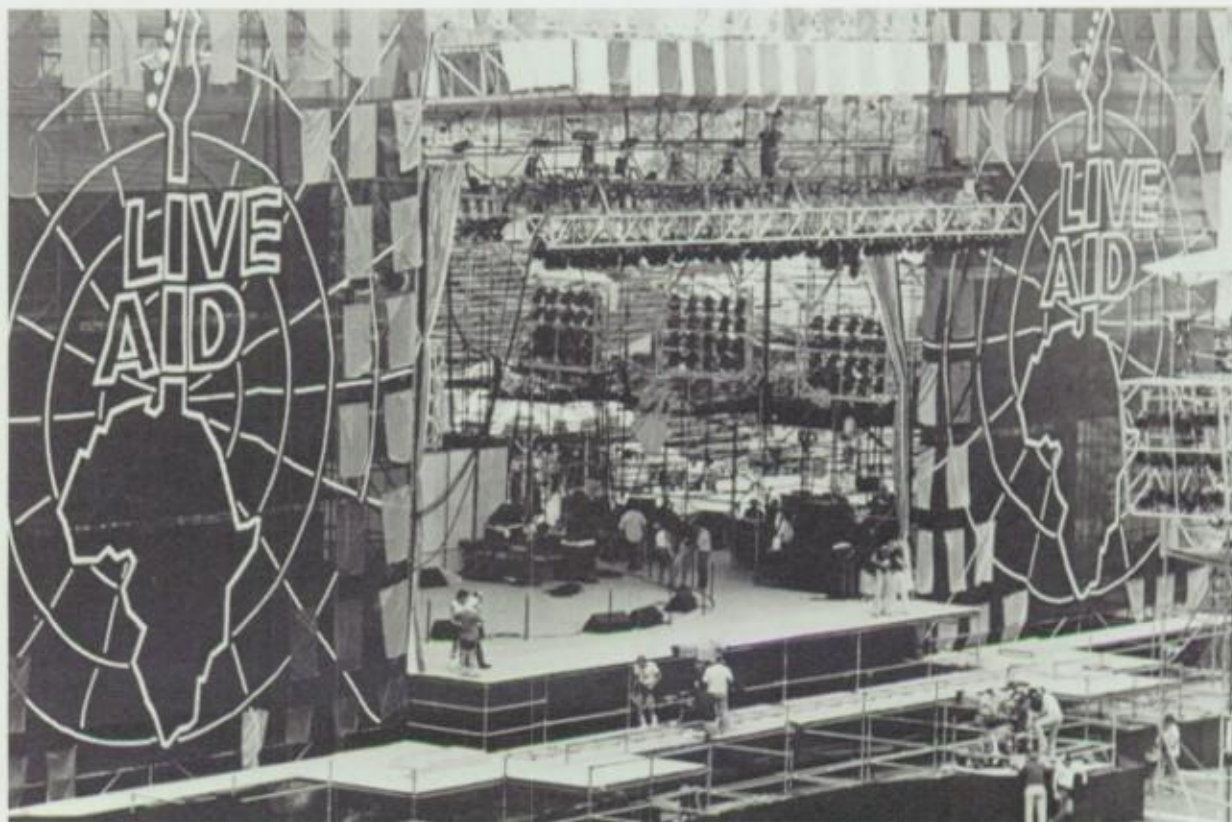

Singers Save Farms

Since the birth of our Nation, Americans have considered farming our oldest and greatest industry. Today, in the face of progress, the farming industry has slipped into the shadow of high technology. The American farmer is gradually becoming unable to support himself and his family. On September 22, 1985, Americans joined many famous entertainers at the Farm Aid concert in Champaign, Illinois. This gigantic production was staged to help American farmers get back on their feet again. If our country's farms should fail, the rest of America will suffer as well. In truth, all America has a responsibility to preserve this part of its heritage. "We must show them we care."

Moammar Khadafy and terrorists worldwide hear the U.S. message: "You can run, but you can't hide."

During 1985 and 86, an increasing number of terroristic acts took place, sending shock waves through the world community. These acts took the form of bombings, such as the ones in Paris; shootouts at the airports of Vienna and Rome; and the newest form, shipjacking. One American died when terrorists gained control of the Italian luxury ship, Achille Lauro. As defined by the United Nations, "terrorism" is an act which endangers or takes innocent lives, jeopardizes fundamental freedoms and impairs the dignities of human beings. Such actions cannot be taken lightly. The world community must band together to devise a course of action against these wanton killers!

LIVE AID draws millions for African relief.

President Reagan meets with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev during the "year of peace".

Majestic Geneva, Switzerland provided the backdrop for an historic summit last November between two superpower leaders. As the world watched, President Ronald Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev engaged in fifteen hours of intense discussions which dispelled previous hostilities and, according to Reagan, established "a fresh start" for US-USSR relations. Topics discussed included academic and cultural exchange programs as well as the looming subject of arms control. Both leaders agreed to continue summit exchanges in their respective countries during 1986 and 1987. Hopefully these meetings will continue to lessen existing tensions while promoting understanding and appreciation between the peoples of America and the Soviet Union.

World Rocks On

One year ago a severe drought and subsequent famine threatened to eradicate the population of Ethiopia. A British news report and repeated pressure from the press attracted worldwide attention and proved successful in getting aid programs underway.

Irish producer Bob Geldof, tired of standing in the wings, planned and helped carry out "a little shindig" designed to help the sick and starving people. This astounding benefit occurred simultaneously on July 13, 1985, in Wembley Stadium, London, England and JFK Stadium, Philadelphia, PA. As the world watched in awe, rock fans thrilled to the magical tunes of well known musicians past and present. Superstar Phil Collins stole the show when he arrived at JFK following his performance at Wembley.

The grand finale occurred under the stars when all musicians joined together on stage with their own upbeat versions of "We are the World". They were satisfied and happy in the knowledge that their efforts helped to raise 80 million dollars needed to "feed the world."

Seniors Have A Foreign Affair

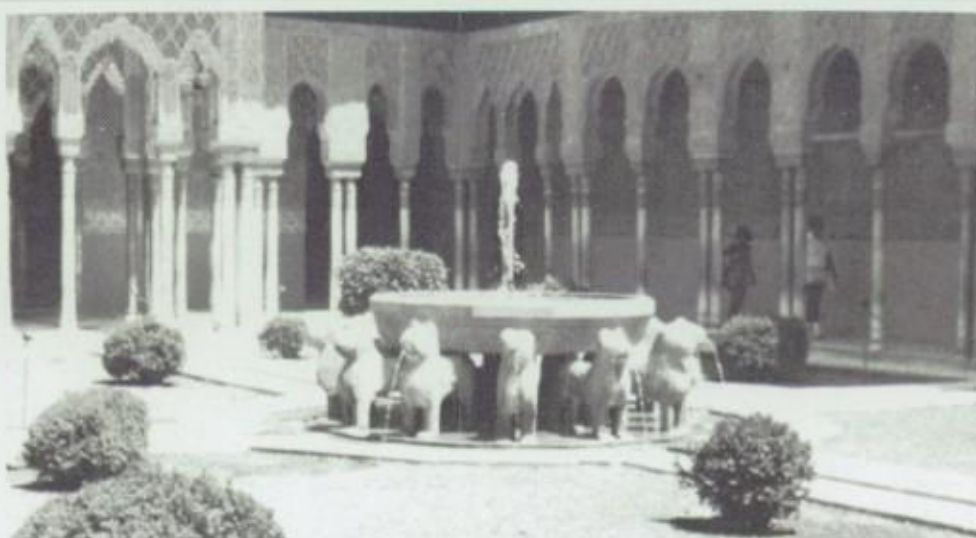

Mike turns into a German pinhead.

Traveling to Europe for the first time can be quite an interesting experience. The adventure represents a series of firsts: the first time away from parents, flying, drinking in a bar (legally), riding a subway, or yelling out of a hotel window at 3 in the morning. After these escapades, sleep becomes a precious commodity. The tour bus no longer plays the part of a sight-seeing vehicle, but of a mobile tent.

The most dangerous of first experiences can be ordering food — one wrong word and a person could end up with something totally FOREIGN. Many people choose to eat familiar foods, such as French fries, Bavarian pretzels, or Spanish rice. The more faint at heart simply head for the ever-faithful golden arches.

After two weeks of playing the dumb American tourist, globe-trotters return home with a new appreciation for one's own bed, language, bathtub, and, yes, parents. Everyone agrees that he will never be the same again . . . nor will Europe.

Shawn tries to collect a few Spanish souvenirs.

Melissa imitates Mona Lisa's non-smiling composure.

The 1986 Orion staff would like to extend sincere thanks to the following people who colored our lives and helped our "Kaleidoscope" take shape:

The students, staff, and administration at Daniel Boone High School.

Mr. John Powanda/Townhouse photography, Andy Santora, Lenny, Joseph O. Reimels, Berks Mont News, The Reading Eagle, the Pottstown Mercury, Cambridge Kaleidoscopes, the Varsity Club, DiScala's Pizza House Restaurant, and all of our patrons. The staff takes pride in presenting our "Kaleidoscope." This yearbook is the optical instrument through which you, the brightly colored bits of glass, can be seen constantly changing, but always producing a beautiful image. The 1986 Orion is not just a yearbook, but a tangible object representing the Kaleidoscope spirit at Daniel Boone High School.

Just when you're convinced that all the teachers are only concerned about giving pop quizzes, then taking them home to their dark caves to correct, someone comes along to prove you wrong. And its here, in this small, but significant corner of our world that we take the time to say something to this very special someone:

Frau you've been more than an authority figure to us. You've been known to scorn like a mother, advise like an older sister, and giggle like a friend. Through your guidance and friendship you've helped us shape our lives and prepare for times "out there". Thank you for sharing your life with us, Frau, and you've allowed us to share bits and pieces of ourselves with you.

Wir lieben dich!

With lots of love,

Your kids

P.S. We'd also like to say thank you to Ray and the cats for letting us wisk you away.

P.P.S. Hope this isn't too mushy!

Another year has slipped by us in a whirlwind of faces, games, concerts, and plays. For junior high students, it has been a year of exciting new experiences and classes. For underclassmen, '86 was just one year before '87. For seniors it's been the year — 184 days spent going out in style.

While mere pen and ink can never bring back a boring class, a challenging teacher, or an exhausting practice, they can capture the smiles, the tears, and the laughter — these elements that blend together with all of our varied interests and talents and form our kaleidoscope at Daniel Boone.

As the Class of '86 leaves the high school halls forever, it will know how to fill out tax forms for any number of dependents, spike a volleyball over a 10-foot net, and square a triangle. More importantly, it will have gained a better understanding of friendship, determination, and responsibility.

As we look through this book we reflect on our year, and as we reach the final page, we realize that we are not ending the book, but turning the page to a new chapter.

"All things must change to something new,
to something strange."

H. W. Longfellow
